

steve burns

songsfordustmites

fanzine

A BLINDING
FLASH

ACROSS THE ROOM

A SUDDEN CRASH
SONIC BOOM CHANGES
EVERYTHING
HE KNEW

IT HAPPENED
SO SUDDENLY

THE NIGHT
YOU CAME

AND RUINED MY LIFE

IT BLEW UP IN FRONT OF ME

I SWEAR YOU
RUINED MY LIFE

AND IT'S SCREAMING
FROM THE PHONES

AND IT'S DRIPPING

FROM THE TREES

AND IT'S MOVING THROUGH THE UNDERNEATH OF OUR FEET

ONE DAY

YOU AND I WILL LIVE ON THE MOON

back here on the ground
you're halfway gone and the traffic drowns
you out

OH MY LOVE

I DON'T THINK YOU UNDERSTAND

CAUSE MY LOVE
YOU HOLD MY HEART
IN YOUR HANDS

Regarding the Appropriateness of Songs for Children and Other Small Mammals

2 First Paul Ford

April 23, 2003

Center for Cultural Studies

Director, Ftrain.com

2.1 Initial Results

Revised Experiment

Experimental Approach

mathematical equations and scientific text fragments are visible throughout the background.

I'D RATHER DIE ALONE THAN LIVE LIKE THIS

the biggest baddest world you've ever seen is smaller than a tear

Where all the kids have robot hearts and dustmites fight
with micro-gears

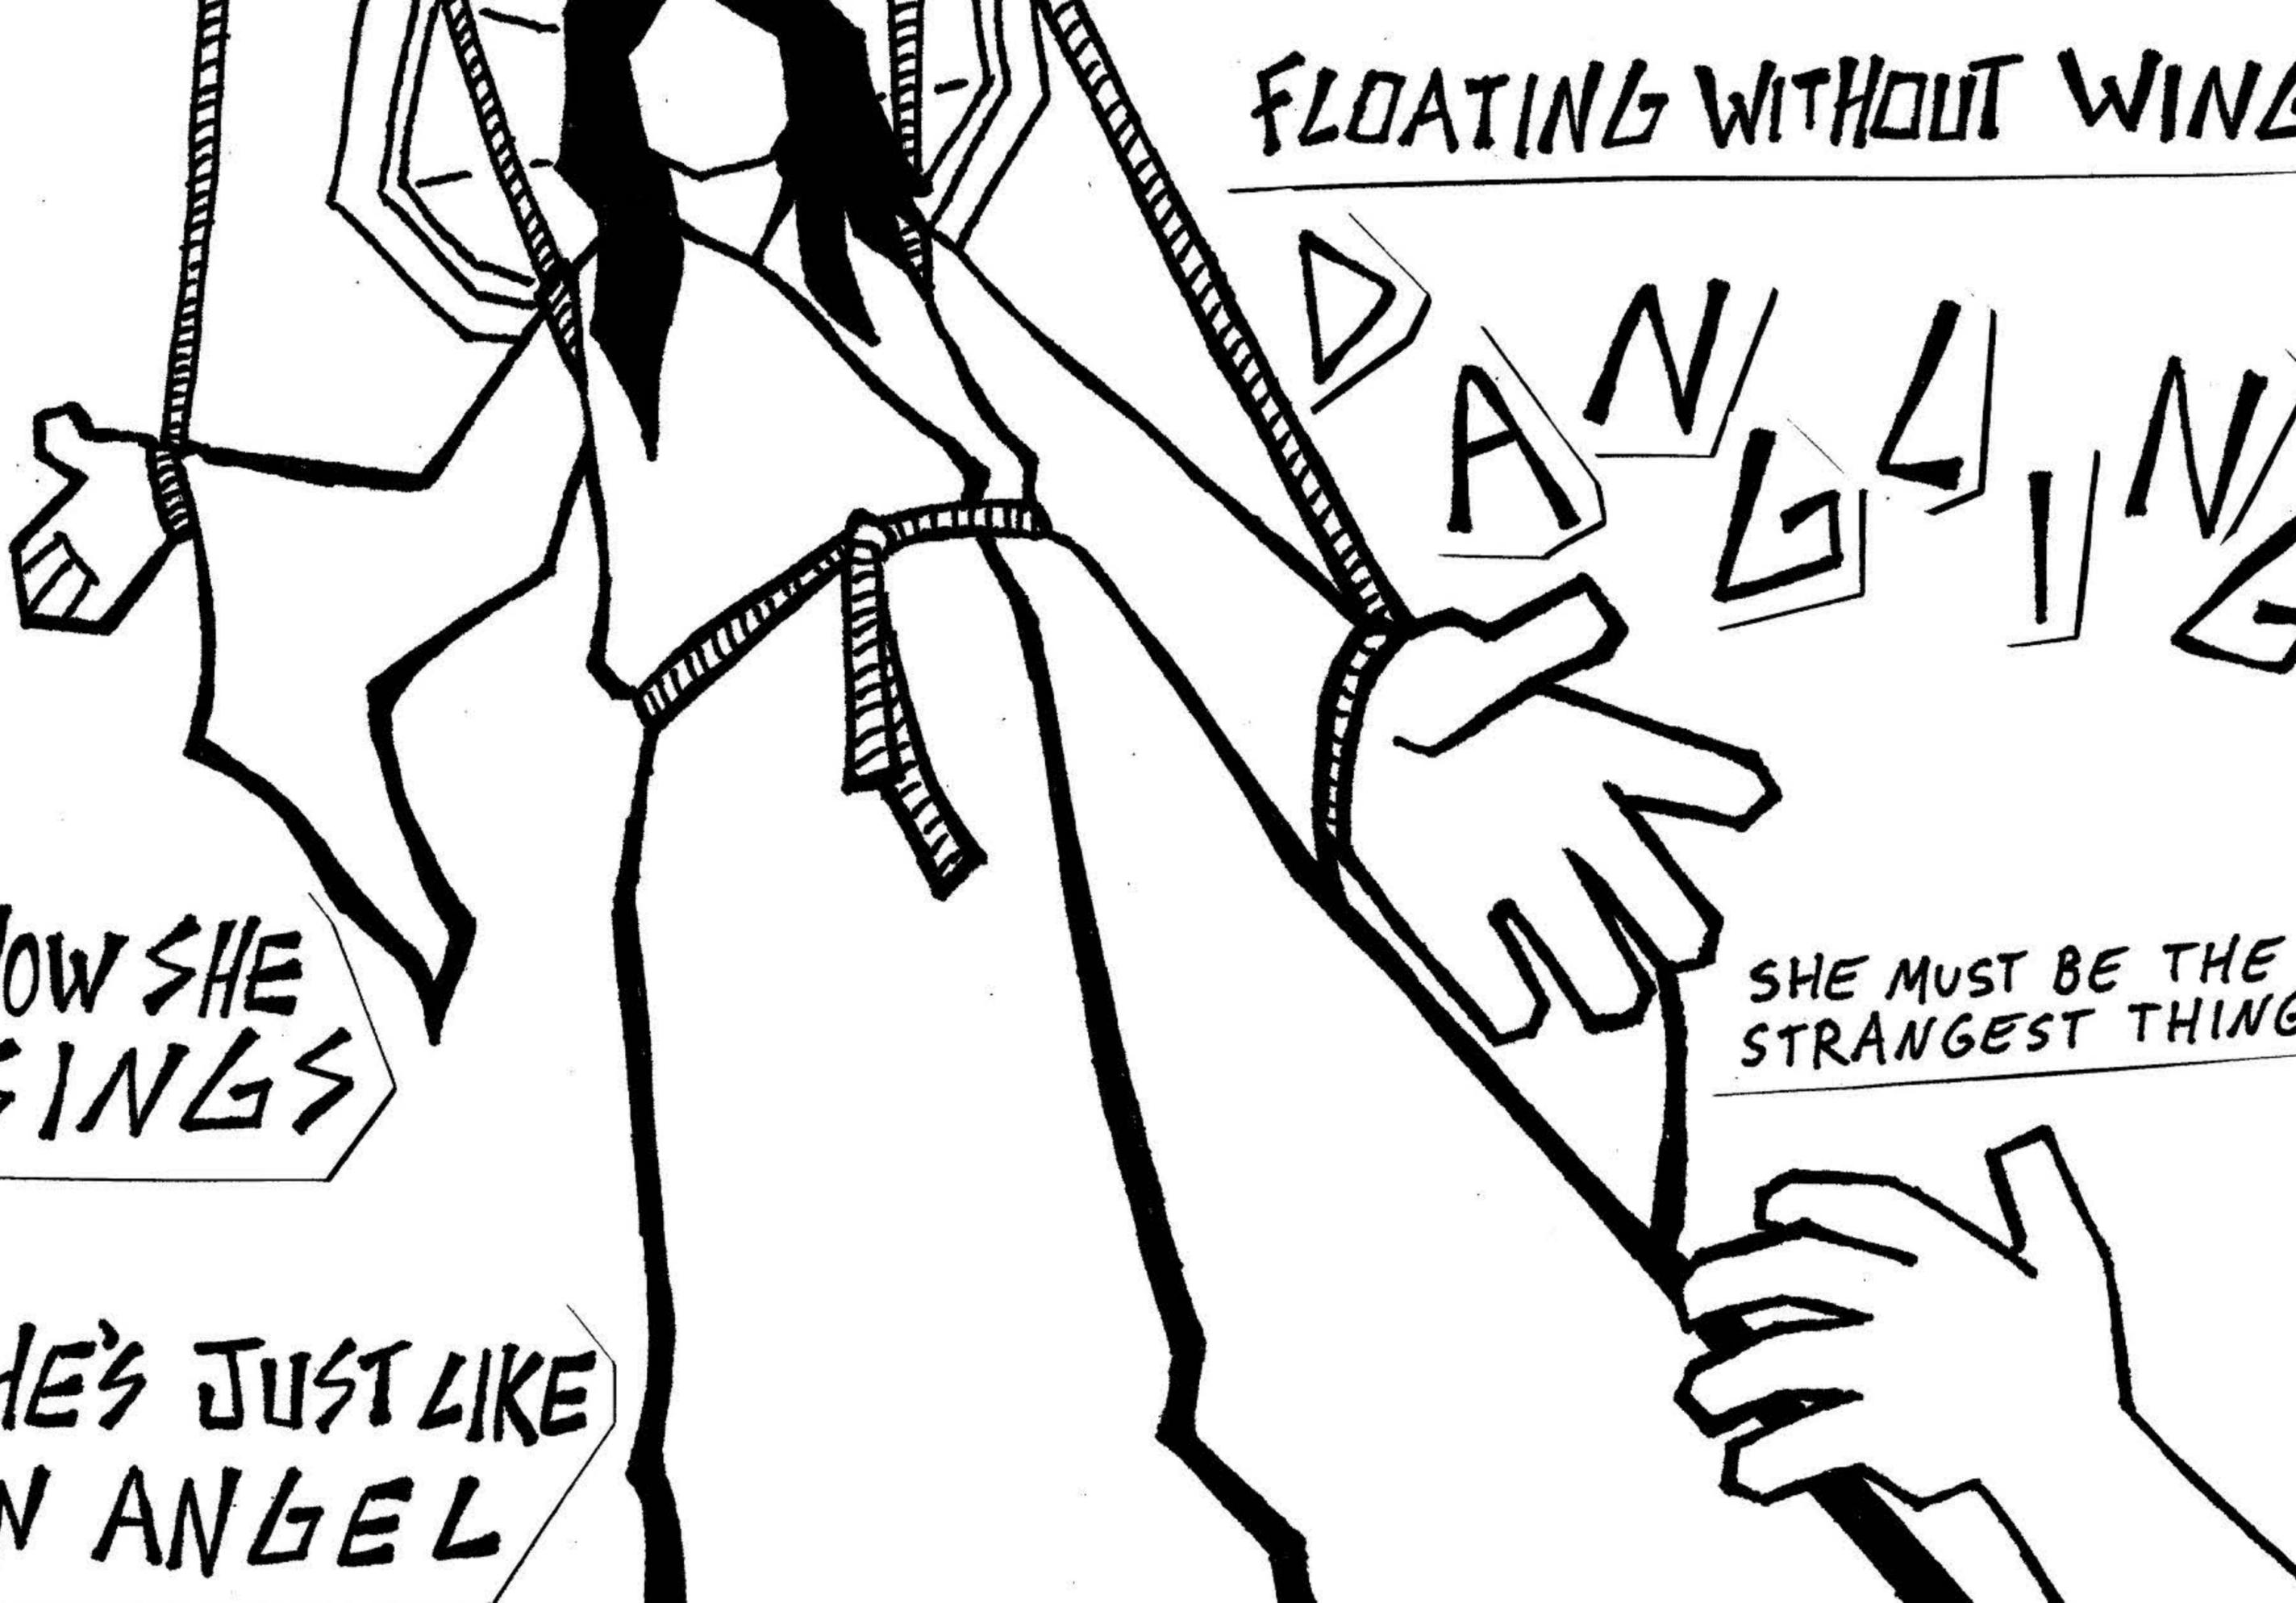

FLOATING WITHOUT WINGS

DANGLING

HOW SHE SINGS

SHE MUST BE THE STRANGEST THING...

SHE'S JUST LIKE AN ANGEL

I WOKE UP
TRIED TO GET DRESSED
BUT I WAS ALARMED
I WAS DISTRESSED

THOUGH I ALWAYS ALWAYS TRY TO DO MY BEST I HAD BECOME A SNIVELING

MESS

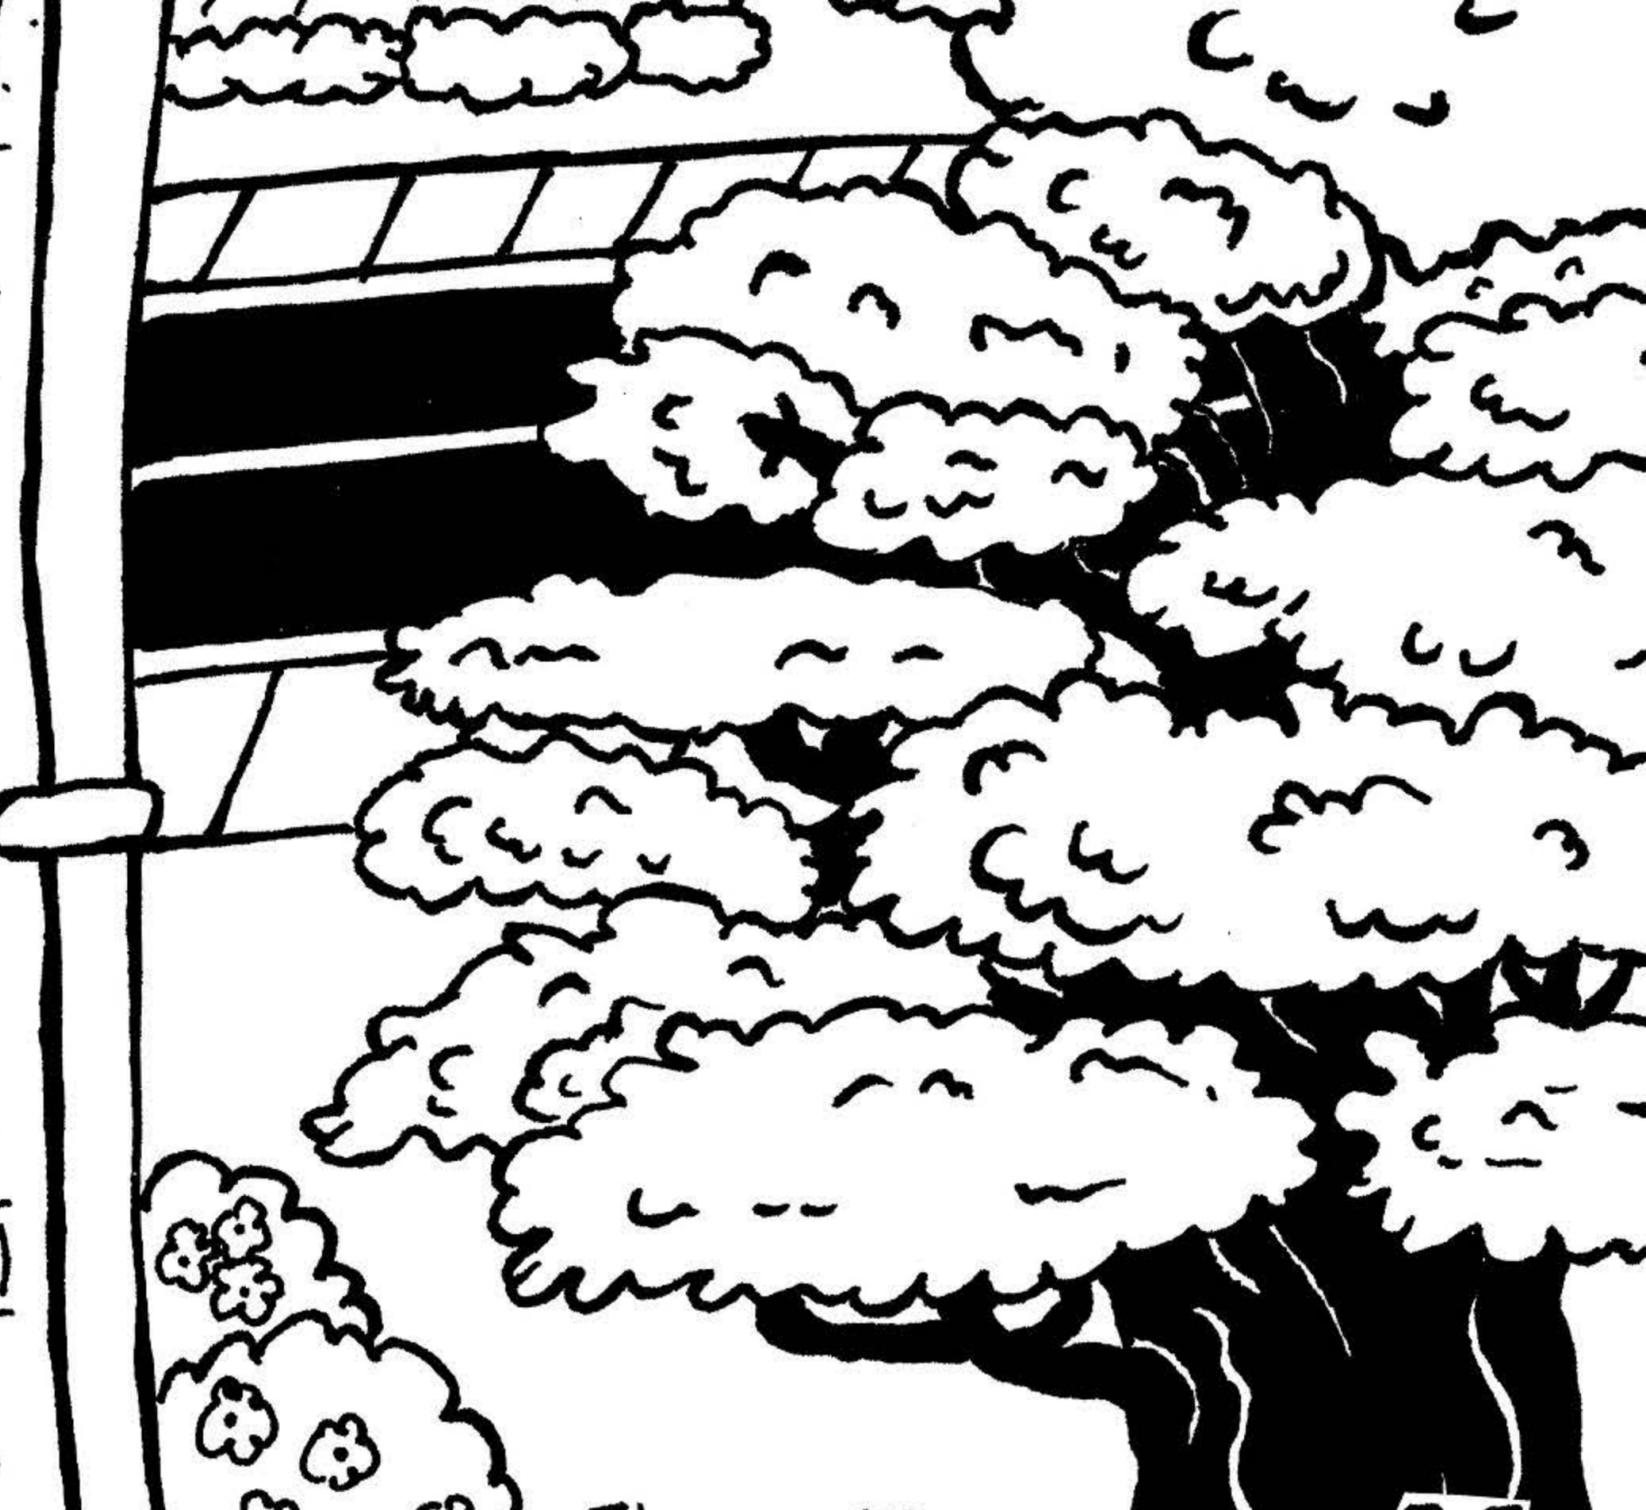

last night
i dreamt i was superman

and i had lots of fun playing with my cape and

with my tights

with my tights

i have recently been named one of People magazine's 100 most eligible bachelors.

i am still laughing.

illustrated by seymour galore
for more information on steve burns' music please visit galore.neocities.org/music/steve